"The renewal of these government contracts signals positive momentum for CCA and is a testament to the superior operational performance of our facilities," said John Ferguson, President and Chief Executive Officer. "The renewals demonstrate the company's continued focus on efforts to enhance customer satisfaction through our operations, inmate programs and new management structure at the corporate level."

The listing of contract renewals includes:

- Bay County Jail, contracted with Bay County for 276 beds in Panama City, Florida (original contract awarded in 1985);
- Alaska Department of Corrections, contracted for 800 beds at the Central Arizona Detention Center in Florence, Arizona (original contract awarded in 1994);

The Company said each of these contracts is subject to renewal on an annual basis, with the governmental agencies having the option of re-bidding the management contracts.
